THE STately PALACE: A UNIQUE AND DIVERSE EXPERIENCE

The Ludwigsburg Residential Palace is one of the few Baroque buildings to have survived the tumultuous history of the last centuries almost unscathed. It is an impressive palace complex with 18 building sections and more than 450 rooms.

This truly palatial complex stands out not just because of its impressive size, but also its sumptuous interiors. Another feature is the unique blend of three quite different eras and their architectural styles: Baroque, Rococo, and Neoclassicism.

A wide selection of museums and exhibitions, for both young and old, help to make Ludwigsburg Residential Palace a popular tourist attraction: the Ceramics Museum houses not only Ludwigsburg porcelain, but also works of art ranging from Medieval stoneware to artisan ceramics of the 20th century; the Fashion Museum showcases clothing from the 18th and 20th centuries;

Ludwigsburg Residential Palace (Residenzschloss Ludwigsburg) is one of the largest Baroque buildings in Europe to survive in its original condition. It offers visitors a striking tour through the centuries—from Baroque to Rococo to Neoclassical.

👑 Flooded with light, the Marble Hall encapsulates the splendour of the royal court of Württemberg

AN IMPRESSIVE TOUR THROUGH THE AGES

A walk through the palace's grand rooms is time travel in style: The magnificent interiors offer a glimpse of life in the Baroque, Rococo and Neoclassical eras. In these authentic period surroundings, imbued with a subtle sense of faded glory, you can relive the days when Ludwigsburg was a regal residence and the center of the duchy of Württemberg.

👑 In Ludwigsburg, you can admire one of the oldest palace theaters in Europe, with original stage machinery

FROM HUNTING LODGE TO STATELY RESIDENCE

The first palace on the site—the old corps de logis—was constructed from 1704 onward. It was initially intended to serve as a hunting lodge for Duke Eberhard Ludwig. In 1718, however, when Ludwigsburg became the Duke's principal place of residence, he sought a more fitting reflection of his power and prestige. Donato Giuseppe Frisoni, who was responsible for the construction of the palace, also developed the plans for a new corps de logis to the south. As a result, the three-wing complex acquired a fourth wing, creating a square. The impressive structure was completed in 1733.

👑 The Hall of Mirrors offers interesting views for young and old alike

A highlight of these spaces is the Baroque enfilade, a strung-together sequence of rooms. Another special feature of the palace is in the east wing: the Palace Theater. With nearly intact stage machinery and stage decoration, it is one of Europe's oldest theaters. The four additional museums are further attractions.

KINDERREICH AND BLOOMING BAROQUE

In "Kinderreich", Ludwigsburg Residential Palace offers a unique interactive museum just for children. It is here that younger visitors to the palace can learn about life in the Baroque era, more than 300 years ago, in a playful way and explore it with all five senses. By dressing up as courtiers, they can experience a bit of what life was like in the duke's court. But visitors can also enjoy a feast for the senses, in the form of the park "Blooming Baroque" that surrounds the palace on three sides.
